A few imments after the arrival of the members of the Fellowship Club and their guests three buglers stepped to the front of the orchestra, and the mellow notes of "Officers' Call" rang through the hall. It met a response from men who had been officers in deys gene by, and who had won their spurs in other places than ball rooms and dedication parades. They were members of the Loyal Legion, and they formed in a circle in the centre of the hall. Around them gathered the officers of the Regular Army, and of the Navy, and beyond these clustered the men of the National Guard. When all was ready the old gray-baired and gray-bearded flighters burst forth with the words of "The National Guard," a poem written by Colonel Turner for the accasion. They sang it to the gray from '61 to '65 clasped hands with the men who had sought their lives during four long and bloody years, and added their voices to the praise and encouragement of the men who must do the Nation's fighting now. It was a becutiful scene, and other the feelings of the listening thousands found tent in long and hearty applause. After this the dancing was resumed, and it was 1 o'clock and after when Colonel Turner shook hands with his last departing guest.

The Victoria Hotel was the scene of a stormy indignation meeting this morning. Members of the Ohio Columbian Commission and those in wheir party called a meeting to denounce the hotel management. They claim that the hotel people have broken their contract to provide accommodations for 200 guests. A committee was appointed to draft resolutions. "We had a contract made six weeks ago," said W. E. Setton, one of the Ohio Fair managers. "When we came here last night we found they had rented everything for high prices and could accommodate only twenty people. The result is our party is scattered over town and we have not collected them yet. Our Supreme Court is stowed away in an attic. The Legislature is talking of going home instanter, and unless some better arrangements are made I don't know what we shall do."

Manager Whipple, of the hotel, said he had done the best possible under the circumstances. "They made no definite arrangements with us until Monday, and then we told them we could not accommodate 200, but would find quarters outside. We have done that."

One of the incidents that caused considerable excitement late last night was a report that Senator John Sherman had suffered a stroke of apoplesy and that he had been carried from the hall in a dying condition. The report, so far as the Senator was concerned, was untrue and arose from the fact that Hoyt Sherman brother of the Senator from Des Moires, Iowa, did suffer a slight attack of apoplexy while scated in the gallery of the hall room. He almost fell from his chair. He was carried in his chair from the ball-room to the room of one of the guest, on the lower floor. Medical all was summoned and it was soon learned that the attack was not of a serious nature. Mr. Sherman recovered in half an hour and returned to the ball-room. The young women are thirteen in number, despite the superstition, to commemorate the original colonies.

THANSPORTING THE PROPLE.

On an elevated stand from which a birdseye view of the surrounding country could have been obtained, one could have witnessed a sight per haps unequalled in the history of the world, so far as facilities of travel are concerned. It would have been a perfect panorama of railroad trains skimming over the land from all directions toward a central point, loaded with haman freight, having one thought in mind—the Columbian parade. In this pheromenal movement of American citizens it was demonstrated that the scepbanded highways are capable of accomplishing unexpected achievements. At the Union Depot it was intensely interesting to watch long trains, as many as four and five at the same moment, arrive, discharge their loads of passengers and send them out into the already crowded streets. Similar scenes were to be witnessed in the Northwestern, the Lake Shore and the dozen and a half other big main line depots. For business, within a radius of 500 miles, it has been the higgest and busiest day the railroads of Chicago ever experienced. And they deserve unbounded credit for the excellent manner in which the people have been handled. So far as known there has not been a single accident of any consequence. Everything moved with the regularity and smoothness of clockwork.

The Chicago Bar Association gave an informal reception this afternoon in honor of the far as facilities of travel are concerned. It would

IN THE POLITICAL FIELD.

GREAT MASS-MEETING IN PLAINFIELD CONGRESSMAN DOLLIVER SPEAKS AND AROUSES GREAT ENTHUSIASM.

Unbounded enthusiasm prevailed in Plainfield la night, when the largest Republican mass-meeting of the present campaign was held in the Republican headquarters in Broadway. There was a fine display of fireworks in front of the hall before he meeting, and the Plainfield band gave an open-air concert. Crescent Rink headquarters were handsomely decorated with flags and lights, the back of the stage being completely hidden by an immense flag. There are sents for 2,000 people in the hall and all of these were taken when the State organizer of Republican clubs, John Ulrich, called the assemblage to order, and in a neat speech introduced as the president of the meeting John W. Murray. Mr Murray, on taking the chair, made a few general remarks apon the importance of the present campaign, and then introduced Congressman Dolliver, of Iowa, Mr. Dolliver's appearance was the signal for continued applause. All present last night heard the most eloquent tribute ever given in Plainfield to the lead ers of the Republican party. He pointed to the pres ent leader of the American people and asked if such a man, representing the high-principled party he did. was not worthy the suffrage of American citizens. When Mr. Dolliver dwelt upon President Harrison and his splendid record as a citizen and as President the audience gave unrestrained vent to their feelings. The cheering lasted several minutes. Mr. Dolliver explained why the Republican party and the present Republican candidates were worthy of port. The arguments he advanced thoughtfully received by many Demo who were present and the result of his speech may be apparent on election day. The Rutherford Brass hand furnished the music. Among the marching clubs present were the Boiling Springs Republican Club with its American tin banner, and President William Binning at its head; the Cariton Hill and Passaic Park Republican Club, the Carlstadt Republican Club and the Harrison and Reid Carlstadt Pioneer Guards Mr. Wallace's speech was interrupted by applanse and by the questions of an Irishman, who re ceived in reply a picture of Ireland under English rule, which brought roars of laughter from the idience. He spoke of Harrison and Reid as speci nens of Ohio products, and warmly complimented New Jersey on John Kean, jr. His reference to the coal combination and William McKenzie, the coming Republican Assemblyman, were greeted with immense enthusiasm. Mr. Wallace closed with an ardent appeal to his hearers to vote for the continued prosperity of the country by cassing their ballots for the Repub Mr. Treat's careful exposition of the tariff and reciprocity was listened to with care ful attention, and his remarks were punctuated with appliance. His pless for the American system for an American market and for Protection for American laborers were rewarded with cordial marks of approciation, and the meeting closed with hearty casers for the speakers and the Republican candidates.

DEMOCRATIC FACTIONS FIGHT. A PRIMARY IN NEWARK WAS THE CAUSE AND THE POLICE HAD TO STOP THEM.

A disgraceful scene occurred last night at the Democratic Assembly primary in the Hid District of the Fourth Ward, held in a rumshop in Mulberry-st., Newark. There were two factions, headed respectively by Peter Bey and "Ed" Gillen. Bey is an office-holder and Gillen a liquor-seller. After the polls were closed Hillfrick, one of the Gillen gang. limbed upon the roof of a rear extension and peeped through the skylight into a room where the ballots stuffed into the box by members Rey faction. He was discovered on the roof, and a liey partisan climbed up and the two men fought m the roof. Hilfrick called to Gillen, who was of the outside that the Bey men were stu Gillen and his followers thereupon ran into the rear oom; Gillen selzed the ballot-box and registry-book, and started out with them. A savage fight ensued in the place among about 200 men. A policeman entered and broke through the combatants. Gillet seized the opportunity and ran out of the door, pursaed by a crowd. He ran toward the Democratic headquarters, but was overtaken, and there was another scuttle between the factions. By this time a number of policemen and arrived, and an officer took number of policemen and arrived, and an officer took number of police station, followed by a mob of men and boys. Several members of the Democratic County Committee visited the station and requested that the box be kept in custody until to-day.

STIERING TIMES AT THE FOOD SHOW.

REPORTS OF DISCONTENT, BUT STILL A GROW-ING ATTENDANCE

Professor James Cheeseman, who is in charge of the Food Show at the Madison Square Garden in the absence of Daniel Browne, the general manager, who has been sick for some days, still holds his place there, in spite of reports that he was to be removed from it. Mr. Greene, one of the trustees for Mr. Browne in his absence, said one of the trustees for Mr. Browne in his absence, said yesterday that he did not think there was any real dissatisfaction with Professor Cheeseman's mahagement, and that there was no thought of his removal. Some facility had been found by exhibitors, he admitted, on account of the bills for water and gas, but when they were explained, he said, there had been no further compiaint. These bills, Professor Cheeseman said, came from the executive conmittee and only passed through his hands in scaled envelopes. There was some additional dissatisfaction among the exhibitors last night in regard to a nuclearly to ourse the exhibitors on Sunday.

faction among the exhibition on Sunday.

The attendance at the Garden last night was the isrgest since the evening night of the Food Show. To-morrow is "Physicians' Day" at the exposition. Many prominent physicians are expected to be present. The preparations for the chefs' exhibit are nearly completed. The cooks of several additional hotels have volunteered their sepvices. Among these is James Burke, of the Motropolitan Hotel. It's exhibit will be a submarine scene, showing fishes, sea serpents and other inhabitants of the ocean.

THE CASINO NOT YET IN SMOOTH WATER Another meeting of the directors of the New-York with apparently as little approach as usual to any final result. The one thing which seems certain is that some change in the affairs of the theatre must be made soon. It may be a return to the old comic opera plan, it may be an attempt to improve the present class of entertainment, or it may be some-thing different from any of the plans which have yet been divulged. Of late, and especially since the Pedonardos were added to the programme, things have gone a little better, it is said, than when the vaude-ville entertainment was first tried, but the receipts are still far from satisfactory, and some attempt must soon be made to improve them.

At the meeting last night Rudolph and Albert Aronson and Messrs. Lassen, Mendelson and Hamiiton were present. A committee previously ap pointed to consider propositions for leasing the house which have been made by certain theatrical managers reported against all the offers made and in favor of the directors retaining their control. An exact statement of the financial condition of the company was submitted. No immediate change of policy in the conduct of the house was decided upon, but it was said after the meeting that something might be done even before the next meeting of the directors. It is said that the contracts with the performers in the present entertainment have yet two weeks to run. managers reported against all the offers made and in ART STUDENTS AT THE DORE GALLERY The exhibition of the Dore Gallery at the Carnegie Music Hall is attracting much attention among lovers of painting, and especially from art students in the various schools of this city and Brooklyn. Many applications have been received by the manager for special rates of admission for students, and several large parties and classes have visited the exhibition.
